FROM THE DESKS OF
PASTORS SHERYL AND CHRIS KESTER-BEYER

Dear Friends in Christ,

Praise the Lord! Praise God in his sanctuary; Praise him in his mighty firmament! Praise him for his mighty deeds; Praise him according to his surpassing greatness! (Psalm 150)

Richard Foster in a blog post entitled "The Many Landscapes of Worship" writes about how important worship is to our spiritual growth and then he shares what he calls a 'few simple exercises' to help us explore what it means to worship. This month and next, I will share with you some of his thoughts on this very important aspect of our spiritual lives.

First, Foster begins by reminding us that Worship is not just that one hour on Sunday Morning, rather worship is learning to be aware of God's presence and giving God praise and thanksgiving no matter where we are and what we are doing.

And so it is that Foster writes that we need to learn to practice the presence of God daily: "With Brother Lawrence, let us sense the presence of God with as great a reality when 'washing pots and pans' as when receiving the holy Eucharist. We can follow Paul's words, 'Pray without ceasing,' by punctuating every moment with inward whisperings of adoration, praise and thanksgiving. We can schedule personal times of inner worship and confession and attentiveness to Christ, our present Teacher. Doing this heightens our expectancy in public worship, because the gathered experience becomes a continuation and intensification of what we have been trying to do all week long."

In fact, if the only time we think to worship God is when we come to worship at church, then we are missing out on a whole host of times and places to worship God. But to worship God daily means training ourselves to be attentive to God's presence around us and as I think we all know, that is not always so easy. But it is something that we can train ourselves to do.

Take Brother Lawrence, that Richard Foster mentions, for example. Brother Lawrence was a monk in the 1600's who lived in a Carmelite monastery where he strove to worship God even in such mundane tasks as 'washing pots and pans'. Now most of us would not think of such a task as worship, but what if, instead of thinking of doing dishes as some sort of job that must be endured but an opportunity to reflect on the meal you have just eaten and give thanks to God for that food. Or to thank God for the water and soap and the ability you have to wash dishes. Or pray for those with whom you just enjoyed dinner. You get the idea?

So, in this coming month, I would like you to think about how you might learn to practice the presence of God daily—to train yourself to worship God—even while doing the most mundane of tasks and see if it might not heighten your sense of God and draw you closer to God.

Come, let us worship the Lord!

In memory of:

As of the time of publication, there were no flower memorials for September.

Therefore, I urge you, brothers and sisters, in view of God’s mercy, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God—this is your true and proper worship. Do not conform to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God’s will is—his good, pleasing and perfect will.
